DRAMATICS SOCIETY

Convener - Dr Dharmendra Kumar

Members –

(Late) Shri Akhilesh Yadav

Amir Shamim

Dr. Anuradha

Disha Pokhriyal

Dr. Hemlata Rathore

Dr. Medha

The Dramatics Society of Satyawati College (Eve) has been a space of exploration and creativity. Like each year, in 2018-19 the Society invited students to participate in the almost 8 week long workshops in College from 10:30 am -1:30 pm.

The Society was deeply saddened with the demise of its mentor Shri Akhilesh Yadav in September 2018. He was a constant source of inspiration for the theatre workshops and the preparation of the performance. The workshops from 24 August- 5 September, 2018 were conducted by him. These resumed in October, 2018 till 5 November, 2018. The workshops began again on 29 January, 2019 and ended on 6 March, 2019.

In the academic year 2018-19, a team of 30 students came together and through theatre exercises and improvisations, brought on stage plays and improvisations on the lives of students and the issues existing in society:

1. 5 November, 2018 - 'Akhbaar mein Naam' (adaptation of a story by Yashpal), and 'Aakhir kab Tak' (play developed through improvisations) were performed.
Sh. Manish Saini and Sh. Sunderlal Chhabra, theatre-in-education experts, contributed to the making of the plays.
2. 6 March, 2019 - 'Ek Chor ki Kahaani' (adaptation of a story by Shrilal Shukla) was performed.
Sh Dipendra Rawat, a theatre-in-education expert contributed to the workshop through a 5-day session with the students.

These workshops and plays were designed and directed by (Late) Shri Akhilesh Yadav along with Amir Shamim and Disha Pokhriyal. Our alumnus Lalit Bharti contributed towards the music.

The society, in collaboration with the Arts and Culture Society of the College, also conducted a three-day workshop on Photography on 3rd, 4th and 5th April 2019. Noted photojournalist Ranjan Basu interacted with and guided the students to work with DSLR cameras and navigate issues of light and focus. This workshop with the students was possible due to the support of Dr Tarakeshwari Negi.

The overall creative functioning of the society was sustained through the encouragement and support of the convener, Dr. Dharmendra Kumar, Ms. Tarakeshwari Negi and the enthusiasm of our students.

Participation was varied and interdisciplinary, and the sessions are outlined below:

The keynote was delivered by Professor Indu Agnihotri, Centre for Women's Development Studies, New Delhi. She outlined the historical development of women's rights, growing inequalities, and cases of increased intensity of violence directed at women.

Dr Deepali Bhanot spoke on 'Widows and Human Rights' and the biases against widowed women. She also spoke of women's right to dignity, financial independence and property control.

Dr J. Khuntia lectured on 'Informal Economy and Gender', focusing on how homemakers play an important role in the economy and the future benefits of government policies and policy-making.

Dr Sadhana Arya shared her views on 'Human Rights and Sexual Minorities', sensitising the audience about the various issues of the LGBT community and biases and prejudices against it.

Professor Ashok Acharya spoke on the theoretical debates and shifting perspectives around Human Rights, views of political philosophers, and the historical development of the 'theory of rights'.

Dr Monika Banerjee spoke on 'Women's work and Care Economy', outlining the decline in female participation in the labour force, and the necessity of adopting universal quality full-day child care provisioning.

Dr Manjeet Bhatia spoke on 'Empowerment through Legal Interventions', emphasising on economic independence for every woman and unravelling the social prejudices within women's consciousness.

Dr Manjeet Bhatia spoke on 'Empowerment through Legal Interventions', emphasising on economic independence for every woman and unravelling the social prejudices within women's consciousness.

Dr Ajita Rao described various attacks on the Dalit community, including rape and brutal exploitation of the Dalit women and lack of adequate protection from law enforcers for the community.

Dr Bijayalakshmi spoke on the PNDT Act and the condition of girl-children in Northern India's villages. She stressed on the necessity to protect the girl-child.

Dr Namita Ranganathan shared the conceptual framework, definition and scope of the term 'sexual harassment'. She stressed on the effective implementation of the Internal Complaints Committee.

Dr Meena Panicker elaborated on the Prevention of Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace Act 2013, different cases dealt with under this Act and mandatory constitution of the ICCs in colleges.

Dr Punam Bedi, along with Dr Panicker and Dr Ranganathan, conducted a two-hour session on 'Prevention of Sexual Harassment at Workplace: Legal Interventions'.

Dr Anup Dhar addressed the area of 'Women and Mental Health: Human Rights Perspective', explaining how voices of women have been silenced, prevalent unethical prescriptions of psychiatric medicines, and the need to 'feminise' mental health sciences, moving away from andro-centrism.

Dr Bharat Singh spoke on the difference between 'Gender' and 'Sex', stressing that participation of women in the economic sphere would help with development of the economy.

Dr Rajiv Verma highlighted the concepts of 'rights', 'human rights' and 'fundamental rights', the genesis of the term 'women empowerment' in 1948 Human Rights Declaration and UNIC on women.

Dr Tanvir Aeijaz began his talk with the socially constructed sense of Gender and moved on to addressing the term 'Feminism' with its varied complexities.

The Principal, Satyawati College (E), Dr Vijay Shankar Mishra shared his concern over unreported cases of sexual harassment and exertion of pressure on the victim in society.

The participants too shared their learnings and made presentations on related themes.

The FDP was possible because of the cooperation between the WSDC, University of Delhi and Satyawati College (E), University of Delhi, along with the support of co-conveners Dr Amrita Kaur, Dr Simran Chadha, Dr Jagbir Singh and Ms Neelam.

Satyawati ji with Mahatma Gandhi

"My Blessings to the students and the labourers whom I served to the best of my capacity" Behan Satyawati (1907-1945).

Shrimati Satyawati was a rare woman in India's struggle for freedom. Her contribution, suffering and sacrifices are matched only by a few. She was born on 26th January, 1907 in Ludhiana. Her maternal grandfather Mahatma Munshi Ram, now known as Swami Shraddhanand was a renowned social reformer. She got married at the age of sixteen to Shri Balbhadra Vidyalankar. She came into the limelight when she plunged headlong into political activity during the Civil Disobedience Movement at a time when she was a mother of two children; a six year old son and a four year old daughter. She addressed meetings, led processions, preached Swadeshi and boycott of foreign cloth.

She also set up 'Congress Mahila Samaj' and 'Congress Desh Sewika Association' in which countless women from Delhi, with patriotic aspirations joined. Thus, Satyawati virtually opened a new 'Women's Wing' to fight against the inequities and excesses of the foreign rulers. Inspired by her selfless service and sacrifice, several women leaders like Aruna Asaf Ali entered the political arena.

In 1934, she became a founder member of the Congress Socialist Forum and worked shoulder to shoulder with Acharya Narendra Dev, Jaiprakash Nayayan, Ram Manohar Lohia and Jawaharlal Nehru. She took part in the Individual Satyagraha of 1940 and was sentenced to one year imprisonment. She influenced the student community in taking a leading part in the 1942 Quit India Movement for which not only she but also her son Krishna Kumar and her daughter Kusum, mother Ved Kumari ji and sister Kaushalya were taken into custody. While in detention in Lahore jail she managed to hoist the National Flag over the jail building.

That she had all along been ever quick in her response to the call for freedom struggle, was evident in the nick name "Toofani Behan Satyawati" she had earned from none other than Mahatma Gandhi himself.
